

Chapter 6

Lab 1

Complete lab 1 on pages 329-331 "Creating Media Queries for the Strike a Chord Website". I am including all start files. Some comments in the directions:

- On step 4 the style is separate from the style in step 3 and the selector is written:

nav li: last-child

- On step 5 make sure you read correctly what the style is for. It is not for the nav li alone. Also remember that when you are setting the padding on all sides you use just the padding style. The first value is for the top and bottom and the second value is for the left and right.
- In step 8 you are to start the style below the Tablet Viewport query. This means that the query and the styles within it should be closed with an additional }
- In step 11 the second part is written:

nav li a: hover

- Pointers on all steps: when asked to create a new media query use the example in step 1. The styles for these media queries are contained within the { } for the media query.

Compressed all html documents and the css, and images folder into a single zip or rar file and submit to the correct drop box.
